Math, Grade 4 (Interactive Notebooks)

Synopsis

In Interactive Notebooks: Math for fourth grade, students will complete hands-on activities about place value, multiplication and division, fractions, measurement, angles, geometry, and more. The Interactive Notebooks series spans kindergarten to grade 5. Each 96-page book contains a guide for teachers who are new to interactive note taking, lesson plans and reproducibles for creating notebook pages on a variety of topics, and generic reproducibles for creating even more notebook pages. The books focus on grade-specific math or language arts skills and are aligned to current state standards.

Some useful information, but would have been better with some blanks. Also, the rounding page should include a traditional number line and instead focuses on the procedural trick. In fourth grade, they should first be certain to get the underlying concept, before the procedure. Still, useful enough that I will keep and use in the classroom.

Very time consuming to use. Needs more directions and suggestions on how to use each notebook page. Not worth the purchase. You can get free interactive pages on TpT to try before spending your money. Same concepts.

I work as a one on one tutor. This book contained almost all the skills that my school district teaches to fourth grade. It was missing mean, median and mode activities and those I had to find elsewhere. Other than that, I like that the book is aimed at state standards and the activites are easy to follow.

Love using these interactive pages with my students. It brings life to their math journal.
